"My goal is to help my clients move away from conflict, navigate difficult choices during a stressful time, and live a better future. I believe an educated client is an empowered client. "

Lindsay represents clients in both, uncontested and contested family matters. Her practice focuses on complex child custody cases. In uncontested matters, she represents clients to finalize the settlement, whether through direct negotiations or mediation. In contested matters, she represent clients in custody, divorce, support, and property litigation. In both contested and uncontested cases, she educates her clients about the process, the law, and their options, so her clients can choose the appropriate path and strategy for them. Lindsay also advises her clients about prenuptial/premarital agreements as well as postnuptial/post marital and reconciliation agreements. She frequently represents children in contested custody litigation as a court-appointed Child Privilege, Best Interest, and Child Advocate Attorney. She is a trained mediator and collaborative practitioner.

In addition to her law practice, Lindsay also volunteers her time to improve the law. In particular, from 2012-2018, she served as the Legislative Committee Co-Chair of the Family and Juvenile Law Section and on its Section Council leadership. She monitors family law and domestic violence legislation, writes position papers, and regularly testifies at the Maryland General Assembly to improve family law for Maryland's citizens, attorneys, and the courts. She educates the attorneys about proposed legislation and new laws.

Lindsay is a long time member of Montgomery Inn of the American Inns of Court, an organization dedicated to the improvement of skills, professionalism, and ethics of attorneys and judges. She previously served on its Executive Committee for many years.

She served as the President of the Montgomery County Chapter of the Women's Bar Association during the 2009-2010 bar year. The Women's Bar Association of Maryland honored her as a Member of
