Public Regulation

JGL brings an outstanding track record of favorable results when challenging government authority, statutes, ordinances, and regulations. We successfully litigated a local ordinance banning smoking outdoors on one's own property.

We prevailed in an attempt by a local municipality to annex a portion of the county and in another to prevent college students from living together. Whether proper procedure was or was not followed, a law was violated, or the government engaged in unconstitutional actions, we are fearless in protecting your rights in the face of overreaching public regulation.
